Dear Mr. Devenish,

Thank you very much for your letter of the 15th August. I had been rather worried that perhaps the book had never reached you, but I see now the reason it took so long for you to get it.

My father was very pleased indeed with the information you gave him about Tahiti and Papeete, as it gave him the necessary background for that part of the story.

As he said in his letter to you, he had suffered a couple of very slight strokes, but he was perfectly fit and well until the very morning of his death, which was so swift and painless that I rather doubt if he realised it was the end, although he knew he was very sick. Would we could all go like that!

Thank you very much for your expressions of sympathy.

Yours sincerely,

Heather Hancock
